IT'S WORKERS MEMORIAL DAY ACT NOW FOR A SAFER INDUSTRY

Today we pause and pay our respects to the transport workers that lost their lives at work. We remember them and think of their families and communities, torn apart by tragedy.

It is a disgrace that trucking is still Australia's deadliest industry. Transport workers are losing their mates at alarming rates. This must change.

We know that clients are putting a chronic squeeze on trucking supply chains which has forced this industry into crisis. If clients pay safe rates for transporting their goods, trucking will be safer for everyone.

We must stand up and fight together. An important part of that is showing that we are united and determined to fight for a safer, fairer industry.

Support is available should you need it.

Contact your branch, visit 1300Driver.org.au, or call lifeline on 13 11 14.

JOIN OUR ACTION TODAY:

1. Take a photo with your truck or in your yard and post it to your social media
2. Include in the post your name, your yard and the hashtag #saferatessavelives
3. If you don't have social media, send your photo to media@twu.com.au

TWU AT PARLIAMENT HOUSE TODAY

The TWU is at Parliament House in Canberra today appearing at a Senate Inquiry into trucking. We'll be sharing workers' concerns for their safety and presenting the change we need to see throughout transport supply chains. Watch the press conference live on Facebook at 8am AEST: www.facebook.com/TWUAus

Together we will remember transport workers and fight in their honour for a safer industry.
